Jung’s Red Book for Our Time
Searching for Soul under Postmodern Conditions
Volumes 1 and 2 / Volume 3 (Coming Soon)

Volume 1
418 pages
Paperback $37 | Hardcover $75

Volume 2
416 pages
Paperback $37 | Hardcover $75

Chiron Publications is pleased to now offer Volume 2 of Jung’s Red Book for Our Time
Searching for Soul under Postmodern Conditions and eagerly anticipate the release of Volume 3. The essays in these volumes are geared to the recognition that the posthumous publication of The Red Book: Liber Novus by C. G. Jung in 2009 was a meaningful gift to our contemporary world. Similar to the volatile times Jung found himself in when he created this work a century ago, we today too are confronted with highly turbulent and uncertain conditions of world affairs that threaten any sense of coherent meaning, personally and collectively. The Red Book promises to become an epochal opus for the 21st century in that it offers us guidance for f under postmodern conditions.

Nuclear Madness and the Mind of Donald Trump

226 Pages
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-589-8
Paperback: $19.95  |  Hardcover: $45

Will President Trump destroy civilization or win the Nobel Peace Prize? Humankind’s survival feels like a jump ball that could go either way. We are perched on a precipice, and the reason we are looking into an abyss of nuclear annihilation is that the American president has unencumbered, unilateral control over the nuclear codes. One thing we know for sure is that the mind of Donald Trump is currently in control of our fate. Never before have the nuclear codes been in the hands of a man who many observers view as unstable and erratic. The twenty-four experts who contributed to this book analyze President Trump’s behavior hoping to provide insights into what may be the most urgent question of our time. What will Trump do with his “big button?”

Narcissism in the Era of President Trump - Revised Edition

trumpnarcissism.com

298 Pages
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-415-0
Paperback: $16.95  |  Hardcover $45

President Trump’s victory in 2016 stunned the world and unleashed a new era in U.S. politics. Donald Trump often embodies the opposite of what many expect from a president, making it difficult for even Republican leaders to know how to respond to him. Since taking office President Trump’s personality and its potential impact upon world affairs has become a central focus for many. A Clear and Present Danger: Narcissism in the Era of President Trump assembles thoughtful, deep explorations of narcissism by bestselling authors, university professors, and practicing clinicians. President Trump’s supporters as well as his detractors may be left asking how narcissistic traits manifest in someone who becomes President of the United States of America.

The Bible as Dream
A Jungian Interpretation

210 Pages
Paperback ISBN: 978-1-63051-668-0
Paperback: $32 | Hardcover: $75

In The Bible as Dream, Murray Stein shares important themes and images in the biblical narrative that from a psychological perspective, stand out as essential features of the meaning of the Bible for the modern reader.

The Bible presents a world elaborated with reference to a specific God image. As the mythographer Karl Kerényi puts it in writing about the Greek gods and goddesses, every god and every goddess constitutes a world. So it is too with the biblical God, whose name Stein exceptionally capitalizes throughout out of cultural respect.

The biblical world is the visionary product of a particular people, the ancient Hebrews and the early Christians, who delved deeply into their God image and pulled from it the multitude of perspectives, rules for life, spiritual practices, and practical implications that all together created the tapestry that we find depicted in the canonical Bible. Yahweh is the heart and soul of this world, its creator, sustainer, and destroyer. The Bible is a dream that tells the story of how this world was brought into being in space and time and what it means.

Don't miss these timeless lectures—a work of respectful and loving interpretation.

DSM-5 Insanely Simplified

154 Pages

Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-208-8
Paperback $19.95 | Hardcover $40

The release of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual Version 5 (DSM-5) marked one of the biggest changes to the field of mental health diagnosis in over 20 years. DSM-5 Insanely Simplified provides a summary of key concepts of the new diagnostic schema including a section on ICD-10.

DSM-5 Insanely Simplified utilizes a variety of devices to help clinicians memorize complex criteria and ideas about the different diagnoses. Cartoons, mnemonic devices, and summary tables allow clinicians and students to quickly grasp and retain broad concepts and subtle nuances related to psychiatric diagnosis.

DSM-5 Insanely Simplified fosters quick mastery of the most important concepts introduced in DSM-5 while offering an entirely new way of looking at mental health along a continuum. This new approach avoids simply “labeling” clients by placing them along spectrums that range from normal to problematic symptoms. Mental health professionals as well as laymen interested in a deeper understanding of emotional well-being will appreciate the synthesis of deep psychology and modern approaches to diagnosis.

Understanding Psychological Projection
88 Pages
Paperback ISBN: 978-0-9821656-6-9
Paperback $11.99

Robert A. Johnson, bestselling author of He, She, We, and other psychology classics, shares a lifetime of insights and experiences in this easy-to-read book on psychological projection—seeing traits in others that are, in fact, our own. Drawing on early Christianity, medieval alchemy, depth psychology, and the myths of "The Flying Dutchman" and "The Once and Future King," he also explores the subjects of loneliness, fundamentalist religion, and the spiritual dimensions of psychology.

Reimagining God and Religion
Essays for the Psychologically Minded
202 Pages
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-496-9
Paperback: $16.95  |  Hardcover: $27

With the necessary demise and death of antique cosmologies and traditional religious paradigms dependent on external deities and devils, the modern religious challenge involves two simultaneous sacred endeavors: to eulogize, bury, and grieve the theistic and monotheistic god-images and the religions dependent on them; and, secondly, to bring fresh imagination to the meanings of god and religion, which will satisfy both the modern mind and ancient soul.

Drawing on the insights of Jungian or analytical psychology, Dr. Wright offers depth psychological analysis of our contemporary religious and political dilemmas, as well as invites readers to be midwives for the emerging religious myth that many believe to be on our collective horizon — a myth that will be more inclusive, intellectually and scientifically honest, and soul satisfying.

The invitation is made urgent by his psychological conclusion: As long as our deities and devils are perceived to be beyond the physical domain and outside the human psyche, our species will continue to do great harm to each other and to our global nest.

Combining personal testament and psychological commentary, the author explores heretofore taboo topics and reframes many traditional theological and Christological dogmas, making them more relevant to religious and non-religious alike.
Hauntings
Dispelling the Ghosts Who Run Our Lives

176 Pages
Paperback $19.95 | Hardcover $40

What does life ask of us, and how are we to answer that summons? Are we here just to propagate the species anew? Do any of us really believe that we are here to make money and then die? Does life matter, in the end, and if so, how, and in what fashion? What guiding intelligence weaves the threads of our individual biographies? What hauntings of the invisible world invigorate, animate, and direct the multiple narratives of daily life? In Hauntings, James Hollis considers one’s transformation through the invisible world—how we are all governed by the presence of invisible forms—spirits, ghosts, ancestral and parental influences, inner voices, dreams, impulses, untold stories, complexes, synchronicities, and mysteries—which move through us, and through history. He offers a way to understand them psychologically, examining the persistence of the past in influencing our present, conscious lives and noting that engagement with mystery is what life asks of each of us. From such engagements, a deeper, more thoughtful, more considered life may come.

The Human Soul (Lost) in Transition At the Dawn of a New Era

246 Pages
Paperback: $28 | Hardcover: $45

“The aim of this book,” wrote Shalit, “is to present a depth psychological perspective on phenomena pertaining to the present, postmodern era. As such, its origins are in the depths; symbolically, in the depth of the waters, in which the sacred is reflected. Likewise, this book centers around the image, which has travelled from the forbidden zone of the transcendent command ‘make no graven image,’ through the interiority of the human soul, to become an exteriorized, computerized, robot-generated image that virtualizes as well as augments reality.” This book explores the changing character of the relationship between us humans and the image, and the dramatic impact this has in post-modern culture.

Jacob & Esau
On the Collective Symbolism of the Brother Motif

182 Pages
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-217-0
Paperback $19.95 | Hardcover $29.95

In 1934, Erich Neumann, considered by many to have been Carl Gustav Jung’s foremost disciple, sent Jung a handwritten note: “I will pursue your suggestion of elaborating on the ‘Symbolic Contributions’ to the Jacob-Esau problem... The great difficulty is the rather depressing impossibility of a publication.” Now, 80 years later, in Jacob and Esau: On the Collective Symbolism of the Brother Motif, his important work is finally published. In this newly discovered manuscript, Neumann sowed the seeds of his later works. It provides a window into his original thinking and creative writing regarding the biblical subject of Jacob and Esau and the application of the brother motif to analytical psychology. Neumann elaborates on the central role of the principle of opposites in the human soul, contrasting Jacob’s introversion with Esau’s extraversion, the sacred and the profane, the inner and the outer aspects of the God-image, the shadow and its projection, and how the old ethic—expressed, for example, in the expulsion of the scapegoat—perpetuates evil.

The Relationship between C. G. Jung and Erich Neumann Based on Their Correspondence

84 Pages  |  Paperback ISBN: 978-1-63051-219-4
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-220-0
Paperback $19.95  |  Hardcover $29.95

With the rise of Adolf Hitler and the National Socialist Party in Germany, Erich Neumann, who had just finished his medical studies, was forbidden, as were all his Jewish colleagues, from completing his final practicum year and obtaining his medical degree. He took his small family and left Germany in 1933 to work with C. G. Jung in Switzerland. In 1934, young Micha and his mother immigrated to Palestine, and Erich followed them several months later. He established himself as a Jungian analyst and began writing in German about his Jewish experience and Jungian ideas, while keeping up a lifelong correspondence with Jung. Micha Neumann, himself a psychiatrist, offers us a personal glimpse into the complicated relationship between his father, Erich Neumann, and C. G. Jung. Whereas Freud was the elder in his relationship with Jung, in the relationship between Jung and Erich Neumann, Jung was the elder. Micha Neumann, who learned of the letters only after both his parents were gone, comments: "I remember how my father spoke about Jung, whom he adored and loved. When I read the correspondence between them, I could compare the father-son relationship between Jung and Neumann, which was very fruitful and positive, where Freud's attitude toward his young disciple Jung was negative and castrating." Based on the letters of Jung and Neumann, which have been recently published, along with the impressions Micha Neumann gleaned from his parents, this book provides a framework for this correspondence and provides additional insight into a rich, personal dimension of their complicated relationship.

Turbulent Times, Creative Minds
Erich Neumann and C.G. Jung in Relationship (1934-1960)

468 Pages
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-363-4
Paperback $32  |  Hardcover $75

This volume of essays by well-known Jungian analysts and scholars provides the most comprehensive comparison to date between the works of C.G. Jung and Erich Neumann. Reflections are based on their extensive correspondence recently published, their differing cultural backgrounds, and the turbulent times surrounding their personal and professional relationship. Among the many specific subjects discussed are Jung and Neumann on art and religion, their views on the problem of evil, and clinical aspects of Neumann’s work. Also included are personal memories of both Jung and Neumann family members.

The Golden Key to Executive Coaching
...And One Treasure Chest Every Coach Needs to Explore

Want to re-invigorate your coaching practice? Are you looking to start up a coaching practice? Either way it’s best to start with some inner work. Executive coaches have complex responsibilities. They get drawn into the stress and pressure of 21st century business with its volatility, uncertainty and immense ambiguity to support and develop high potential leaders with heavy responsibilities. The Golden Key to Executive Coaching is a unique contribution to the field of professional leadership development. What distinguishes Janet Steinwedel’s approach is her incorporation of the lessons of depth psychology—particularly the work of Carl Jung—into her outlook and methodology. While The Golden Key is primarily written as a guide for other executive coaches, it contains much of value for all those seeking to more fully integrate their authentic selves into their professional careers. It may also serve as a “plain language” primer to the thought of Carl Jung, one of the most insightful, far-reaching minds of the 20th century.

Janet S. Steinwedel

Authenticity as an Executive Coach:
Waking up the Wounded Healer Archetype
A book on the use and challenges of projection in Organizational Coaching

Janet Steinwedel brings us back to critical reflection on oneself—the Coach—and the work she or he does on her or his own inner life. This connection of ego and the Self archetypes establishes conscious awareness in service to the Coach’s well-lived life and in support of the meaningful lives of others.

Imaginal Figures In Everyday Life

Stories from The World Between Matter And Mind

Mary Harrell unflinchingly greets a cast of imaginal figures who inhabit her life, and encourages all of us to welcome their wisdom into our own inner landscapes. These very real beings dwell in a realm between matter (nature) and mind (reason), appearing in dreams, intuitive callings, visions, feelings, and sometimes frightening events.

"Reading Dr. Harrell's exquisite prose I am reminded of the poet John Keats who invited us 'to call the world the vale of soul making.' In that place between matter and mind, in that place between worlds, on that thin line between fact and fiction, dream and reason, idea and image, one needs a poetic sensibility. Dr. Harrell has such a sensibility and alongside her we learn to make that call."

Descent and Return

An Incest Survivor’s Healing Journey through Art Therapy

Descent and Return: An Incest Survivor’s Healing Journey through Art Therapy is the journey of Jacqueline Leigh. When Jacqueline Leigh was 38 years old, she began having spontaneous flashbacks of an incestuous childhood. This devastating experience destroyed everything she thought had been true about her life, family, and God. After several years in the Abyss of depression, she finally felt impelled to seek help. She was referred to Louise Lumen for Art Therapy—a therapeutic approach compatible with her artistic nature. For three years Jacqueline used art, dreamwork, and energy healing to come to terms with her rage, shame, terror, and grief. Through this process of owning both her Light as well as her Shadow, she began to develop a sense of self-respect, empowerment, and a reconnection with her spiritual core. Jacqueline then decided to share her work, hoping to inspire other abused persons to seek their healing as well. This book is a record of Jacqueline’s journey.

Women: Stereotypes and Archetypes

This book Women, Stereotypes and Archetypes explores the complexity of modern woman’s identity which is no longer supported by convenient but limiting stereotypes. The book tries to answer following questions:

How do the women handle the confusion arising from such a loss?

If stereotypes are rejected can understanding of the meaning and function of the archetypes in human psyche offer the majority of women guidelines to a secure identity?

Is an American woman’s problem of identity different from that of a woman of another culture?

And finally, where do all this change and crisis lead? Examples from the author’s analytical practice of 40 years and life-long anthropological research and teaching are used to support her observations and conclusions.

Alchemy Of The Heart
The Sacred Marriage of Dionysos & Ariadne

208 Pages

Dionysos, one of the most misunderstood of the gods, is a masculine energy that brings us back to life and vitality in a way that includes deep partnership with the feminine.

Through the exploration of the love story of Ariadne and Dionysos, The Alchemy of the Heart takes us on an archetypal adventure into an ancient world where the dance of masculine and feminine ignites fullness of being in both men and women.

The Soul in Anguish
Psychotherapeutic Approaches to Suffering

Paperback $26 | Hardcover $65

The Soul in Anguish presents a variety of approaches to psychotherapeutic work with suffering people, from the perspectives of both Jungian and psychoanalytic psychology. An important theme of the book is the impact of suffering—suffering may be harmful or helpful to the development of the personality. Our culture tends to assume that suffering is invariably negative or pointless, but this is not necessarily so; suffering may be destructive, but it may lead to positive developments such as enhanced empathy for others, wisdom, or spiritual development. The book offers professionals in any helping profession various frameworks within which to view suffering, so that the individual’s suffering does not seem to be random or meaningless. Cognitive-behavioral approaches, the approach of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of the American Psychiatric Association, and the promise of evidence-based strategies may or may not be applicable to the unique circumstances of the suffering individual. These approaches also ignore the unconscious sources of much suffering, its implications for the ongoing development of the personality, and the nuances of the therapeutic relationship. We cannot objectify or measure suffering; suffering is best viewed from within the individual’s perspective, because people with the same diagnosis suffer in unique ways.

On The Spirit And The Self
The Religious Art Of Marc Chagall

215 Pages
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-421-1

This book compliments and extends the scholarship surrounding Chagall’s place in the History of 20th Century Art as a Religious artist. Central to this study is the psychic process of individuation and the ways in which images appear to depict the deeper changes in our collective human existence.

A new perspective on Chagall’s creative output is presented through the application of Jungian theory: Jung identifies a separation between the cultural and historical underpinnings of natal faith, or creed, and the presence of an internal, personal spirituality, or religious attitude. This theoretical approach helps to define Chagall’s creative connection to his own natal Hasidic faith whilst clarifying the interiority of his religious experiences on a universal level.

That creative development may be explored through the visual patterns of sacred transformative imagery is a new approach in Chagallian scholarship, elevating two key concepts: the Chagallian sacred-secular binary, and the Chagallian temenos sites. Primary source materials reflecting the Artist’s voice are illuminated by more than seventy colour reproductions to support the perspective that, like Jung, Chagall was among the most prolific and significant religious communicators of the 20th Century.

There Are No Accidents—in Love and Relationships
Meaningful Coincidences and the Stories of Our Families

218 Pages
Paperback ISBN: 978-1-63051-488-4
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-489-1
Paperback $19.95 | Hardcover $29.95

With a classical Jungian approach, best-selling author Robert Hopcke specifically focuses on family stories—how people met the love of their life, striking coincidences that are shared between siblings, parents and ancestors, ways in which synchronistic events accompany us in our transitions throughout our family histories—in order to explore both the nature of Jung’s notion of synchronicity but further to illustrate how our notion and experience of “family” is fundamentally archetypal and psychological in nature, rather than merely biological or social-cultural.

Platonic Jung and the Nature of The Self
266 Pages
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-402-0
Paperback $26 | Hardcover $65

Platonic Jung and The Nature of The Self illustrates how the roots of Jung’s Analytic Psychology originate in Plato’s philosophy, in both the cosmology of each system and in the nature of the self. In doing so, the project reunites philosophy and psychology and shows how Jung himself united the two in his own work.

Paperback: $26 | Hardcover: $65

A Most Mysterious Union: The Role of Alchemy in Goethe’s Faust carefully explores the role of alchemy in Goethe’s Faust. But it also recognizes the importance and, indeed, the increasing necessity of transforming the human spirit and the requisite expansion of our consciousness as a species as perhaps the only hope for the future—of ourselves, other forms of life, and the planet itself.
The Unconscious Roots of Creativity

Edited by Kathryn Madden

Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-386-3
Paperback: $32 | Hardcover: $65

From whence spring the sparks of creativity? It is to this very question that the field of depth psychology—especially that of C.G. Jung and his intellectual descendants—has much to contribute. Just as the Muses were the offspring of Mnemosyne, the goddess of memory, our memories are the ancestors of our creativity that finds its multifaceted expression in the written word, image, theater, dance, and music. The Unconscious Roots of Creativity seeks to push the investigation into that domain of memory that is beyond our conscious reach. With articles from 16 contributors, the “red thread” running through each of the offerings in this volume is that, whatever its ultimate expression, the creative impulse has its roots deep in the psyche. | Edited By Kathryn Madden with articles by Linda Carter, Anna Maria Costantino, Carol Thayer Cox, Leonard Cruz, Lisa Raye Garlock, James Hollis, Naomi Ruth Lowinsky, Ian Livingston, Kathryn Madden, Jordan S. Potash, Susan Rowland, Murray Stein, Ann Ulanov, Tjeu van den Berk, Robin van Loben Sels, and Heidi S. Volf.

Memories of a Vietnam Veteran
What I Have Remembered and What He Could Not Forget

Barbara Child put her heart and soul into a letter to her partner, Alan Morris. He was a Vietnam War veteran, and she was taking a seminary course on war—in particular, the Vietnam War. She turned in her letter as a term paper for the course, calling it “An Open Letter to a Vietnam Veteran.” A little more than two years later, the war finally took its toll on Alan. He put a Colt .45 to his head and pulled the trigger. Barbara read part of her letter as the eulogy at his memorial service. The book gives a partner’s-eye view of post-traumatic stress and moral injury relentlessly taking their toll on the body, mind, and soul of a veteran who served as a medic in the Vietnam War. The book also shows how Jungian dream work with an expert, caring analyst can bring forth memories and the meaning of memories both sought and unsought. Ultimately, this book is both a labor of love and an impassioned outcry on behalf of all victims of war, whatever their part in the suffering.

The Hiss of Hope
A Voyage with Parkinson’s Towards an Intimate Autonomy

The diagnosis of a chronic illness can separate a person’s timeline into two spaces: the before and the after the onset of the disease. For this author it is Parkinson’s Disease. The disease has been with her for 20 years. For the first few years the relationship between her and Parkinson’s remains moderate. This book is a descriptive narrative of the re-shaping of this state through learning an unfamiliar pattern of relating, through acquiring a consciousness—and an experience—of an intimate autonomy. Even though The Hiss of Hope is about living with a chronic disease, the book does not dwell on a life of suffering and desperation, but rather, it also depicts the adventure leading to places, to encounters and to depths of experience that would not have been possible without first having been ambushed by Parkinson’s. With a grateful nod to Parkinson’s Disease and its initial rupture of her life, the author concludes her book with a generous smile. The sparkle of the “before” space links to the calm radiance of the “after.” And an untried Third reveals itself as a dynamic Fourth, which is a new One—a beginning asserts itself at the end. Parkinson’s reacts with a wise and iconic grin.

Dancing at the Still Point
Marion Woodman, SOPHIA, and Me - A Friendship Remembered

At a time when we are witnessing the return of the World Soul, the rise of feminine consciousness and the re-enchantment of Nature, the friendship between Marion Woodman and Elinor Dickson offers us a rare glimpse into the new story yearning to be born. Dancing at the Still Point reveals a remarkable friendship rooted in Soul that is both deeply personal and transpersonal. Prompted by a dream in which Marion told her to write about their friendship, Elinor Dickson has succeeded in weaving their shared visions, dreams and insights with the playfulness, challenges, and honesty they shared over thirty-four years. Like all deep friendships, Marion and Elinor mirrored each other while mutually affirming their individual destinies. This is a book that celebrates the gift of friendship as a compelling model for community in these times. As Marion would say, “where soul meets soul that’s love” and love is the field in which we are all called to dance.

Naming the Gods
Cy Twombly’s Passionate Poiesis

This book concerns itself with the contemporary art work of Cy Twombly as seen against the deep background of classical Greek mythology. In particular, the two entwined figures and images of Orpheus, lyre player, lover and journeyer to the underworld, and Dionysos/Bacchus, god of wine, ecstasy and madness, are taken up as the two principal thematic leitmotifs which animate and overarchingly inform Twombly’s entire artistic oeuvre across all the mediums in which he worked, both literally and symbolically, from the early 1950’s until the last series of brilliantly colored paintings he made just before his death in 2011.

Love and Sacrifice
The Life of Emma Jung
Translated by Kathleen Llanwarne

Paperback $25 | Hardcover $60

Little attention has been paid to Emma Jung’s role in the history of analytical psychology and in the life of C. G. Jung. This extended biographical essay by Imelda Gaudissart, originally published in French, provides a carefully detailed view of this remarkable woman. Gaudissart’s sensitive depiction of Emma Jung reveals a very real woman confronted with an unexpected life and challenged to develop in ways that, for a wife and mother of that period, were almost unimaginable. She worked closely with her husband, C. G. Jung, and Sigmund Freud, becoming herself an analyst, and she was instrumental in establishing the earliest institutions for analytical psychology. The issues Emma Jung faced on her path to individuation will resonate with those of many women today.

The Herder Dictionary of Symbols

228 Pages
Paperback $19.95

This edition of Chiron’s popular guide to the meaning of symbols in religion, archaeology, mythology, art, dreams, fairy tales, and literature contains more than 450 illustrations and 1,000 entries from around the world. In handy pocket size, it is of great assistance to anyone interested in dream interpretation, understanding symbolism in religion and art, and the overlapping meanings of symbols from different cultures. Beautifully produced and authoritative, this detailed survey reveals an abundance of types of human symbolic thinking.
Barbara Hannah was a straightforward, modest-yet-grand woman, a lover of literature, and a colleague and friend of C.G. Jung, Emma Jung, and Marie-Louise von Franz. A first-generation Jungian psychologist, she was one of the original members of the Psychological Club of Zürich and one of the founders of the Jung Institute in Zürich.

She lectured extensively in Switzerland and England and wrote several books on C.G. Jung and Jungian psychology. These two volumes present her psychological analysis of the animus gleaned from handwritten notes, typed manuscripts, previously published articles, her own drafts of her lectures, and notes taken by those present. She tackled the theme of the animus with a comprehensiveness unsurpassed in Jungian literature. Her insight and vigor stem from a personal grappling with her own animus while integrating the experience and reflections of many psychotherapists who were working directly with C.G. Jung.
While the hands explore the sand’s consistency, its smoothness, and its readiness to respond to the slightest touch, all sorts of perceptions and emotions go through the clients’ state of mind, and they cannot say whether they came from inside or out. It appears to be a circular process, a very subtle but also very persistent and concrete dialogue between the inner and outer worlds, between body and psyche, and more generally, between psyche and matter.

Eva Pattis Zoja explores the psyche’s astonishing capacity and determination to regulate itself by creating images and narratives as soon as a free and protected space for expression is provided. A variety of examples from analytic practice with adults and from psychosocial projects with children in vulnerable situations illustrate how sandplay can be used in different therapeutic settings.

Abraham the Man and the Symbol
A Jungian Interpretation of the Biblical Story

Abraham the man was God’s chosen one—chosen to impart the belief in one God to a pagan society and to bring forth a new nation in the Promised Land. Abraham the symbol shows that we all have a mission if we will heed the call from the voice of Self.

Where the Shadows Lie takes the reader on a journey through Tolkien’s Middle-earth, following the hobbits, their companions, and the characters they encounter on their quest. Jung’s theory of the collective unconscious and the archetypes provide a key to understanding the forces of fantasy that are so powerful in Tolkien’s masterpiece—and thereby a key to understanding ourselves and the events of the outside world in our modern times.

Text and Psyche convincingly shows that the reader of scripture has a creative and not merely passive role.

The Principle of Individuation

Toward the Development of Human Consciousness

250 Pages
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-053-4
Paperback $27.95 | Hardcover $42.95

The Principle of Individuation suggests new approaches, on both personal and communal levels, for gaining freedom from the compulsion to repeat endlessly the dysfunctional patterns that have conditioned us. In this concise and contemporary account of the process of individuation, Murray Stein sets out its two basic movements and then examines the central role of numinous experience, the critical importance of initiation, and the unique psychic space required for its unfolding. Using psychological insights from Carl Jung’s writings, from myths and fairytales, and from years of clinical experience, he offers a vivid description of this lifelong and dynamic process that will be useful to clinicians and the general public alike.

Crossing the Owl’s Bridge uses the wisdom of worldwide folk tales to demonstrate how to share, ritualize, and transform grief. The premise is that although we do have to say goodbye to our material relationship, we are also being presented with a chance to say hello to a different type of relationship. Crossing the Owl’s Bridge illustrates creative outcomes to mourning that allow one to recognize, contain, release, and yet stay in relationship and keep loving.

Of course this book will be used as a survival manual for grieving parents, but it is a remarkable kit for the biggest psychological project of our time: ordinary people teaching themselves to work through even the saddest occasions in order to live with strong feeling.
The Soul in Anguish presents a variety of approaches to psychotherapeutic work with suffering people, from the perspectives of both Jungian and psychoanalytic psychology. An important theme of the book is the impact of suffering—suffering may be harmful or helpful to the development of the personality.

Much has been written about the life and work of C.G. Jung, but little attention has been given to his impact on other modern thinkers and writers. Barry Ulanov discusses what they say—both positive and negative—about Jung’s ideas and his influence on their own creative lives.

John Boe offers many delightful and personal snapshots of his humorous and often revealing approach to living. In these short, witty essays, he slices life along the lines of Jungian psychology applied to such everyday topics as holidays, palmistry, Shakespeare, movies, astrology, and more, while behind the humor is a satisfying glimpse of wisdom and experience.

Author Harry A. Wilmer applies his experience and wisdom to link the world of Jung with the real world. He explores complex subjects and deep theories in a deceptively light style, employing his special wit and skill as a cartoonist.

Psyche and Sports offers a look at a variety of sports from the collective, mythical and psychological perspective, from the viewpoints of both spectators and players, in a collection that spans the history and universality of the human psyche at play.

It is the author’s sense that the failure in modern life to nurse psyche in ourselves and in others does, in fact, open the door to madness. Madness itself becomes nurse. The dream, the poem, and that day’s events have led the author to work on the problem of how to nurture psychic development in our day, which means, first of all, how to listen to psyche in the overlooked and undervalued Market Street we call every day, ordinary life.

Structured around a series of lectures presented at the Jung Institute of Chicago in a program entitled “Jungian Psychology and Human Spirituality: Liberation from Tribalism in Religious Life,” this book-length essay attacks the related problems of human evil, spiritual narcissism, secularism and ritual, and grandiosity. Robert Moore dares to insist that we stop ignoring these issues and provides clear-sighted guidance for where to start and what to expect. Along the way, he pulls together many important threads from recent findings in theology, spirituality, and psychology and brings us to a point where we can conceive of embarking on a corrective course.

The practical execution of crisis intervention in psychotherapeutic practice and Jungian Analysis.
In a frenetic society that has given up dreams and fantasy, that is characterized by people rushing vertiginously ahead, like guinea pigs continually bombarded with stimuli rushing madly around their cage, the analyst’s task is to recover the imaginary, the poetry of the soul, of the psyche. In this sense, the therapist must necessarily be portrayed as a wayfarer who lives life as if it were a never ending voyage.

Creative regression, living closer to one’s fundamental nature, is what we are learning about today. But how to apply our knowledge on a world scale so as collectively to avoid violent swings and explosions is, of course, an unsolved problem of our era of massive blindness and consequent mass behaviors.

This book-length essay attacks the related problems of human evil, spiritual narcissism, secularism and ritual, and grandiosity. Robert Moore dares to insist that we stop ignoring these issues and provides clear-sighted guidance for where to start and what to expect.

The Transcendent is the bridge between the rational and irrational, the conscious and unconscious. Ann Belford Ulanov demonstrates the reality of the Transcendent through ten examples taken from her years of practice as a Jungian analyst.

In this reflection on life’s journey, Daniel Lindley applies the insights gleaned from many years of study of literature and psychoanalysis to show how we are always becoming and always obligated to care for that archetypal child. Drawing upon psychological truths expressed by Shakespeare, Wordsworth, Eliot, and others, Lindley illuminates the process of individuation through personal experience, art, and archetype.
The Principle of Individuation suggests new approaches, on both personal and communal levels, for gaining freedom from the compulsion to repeat endlessly the dysfunctional patterns that have conditioned us. In this concise and contemporary account of the process of individuation, Murray Stein sets out its two basic movements and then examines the central role of numinous experience, the critical importance of initiation, and the unique psychic space required for its unfolding.

The Mythmaker

148 Pages
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-501-0
Paperback: $14.95  |  Hardcover: $27

The Mythmaker is a personal myth, a fiction, based on author and depth psychologist Dr. Mary Harrell’s life. After the sudden death of her mother, seven young children and an overwhelmed father were left to figure out what to do. Acknowledging that seminal happenings enwombed in our past seek re-membering, and in the tradition of personal mythtelling, Dr. Harrell, began a writer’s journey, to re-collect the meaning of her story. She proceeded in a series of spiralic returns gathering meaningful shards of symbolic experience.

Dr. Harrell, as we all do, found herself asking, “Who or what is here right now, to inform this long ago, and also, present moment?” Such self-reflective activity took her back to memories, not as they were, but as she perceived them to be. With each return, she found a different fiction, an echo, a fabrication, and also the better truth that brought her closer to coherence, that soulful state best described as wholeness.

Through this process the past emerged and the full story found its way to the pages of this book. Beyond the death of Dr. Harrell’s mother, an additional reality within The Mythmaker story is irrefutable. An angel, an imaginal figure, began entering the author’s life when she was fifteen years old. The angel’s aim was to be an ally, thereby transforming grief into a story of healing. Her presence reminds us that preposterous aspects of our own myth may inform the deeper truth of our experience.
In this frank and honest airing of male sexuality, Jungian analyst Joel Ryce-Menuhin presents a rare comprehension of the male experience gathered from over 20 years of working with male clients.

By presenting male sexuality along with its psychological and spiritual issues, his work adds to our understanding of men today.

Typology

Mary E. Loomis
Dancing the Wheel of Psychological Types

128 Pages
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-88860-295-1
Paperback $12.99
Hardcover $40

A thorough, readable explanation of Jung’s theory of psychological types combined with a spiritual guide adapted from Native American teachings—the medicine wheel and its beautiful inner wheels, which guide the dances of living. A fascinating and clear meeting of Western and Native American cultures.
Angelo Spoto

Jung’s Typology in Perspective
The Fusional Complex and the Unlived Life

In a spirited and accessible interpretation, Angelo Spoto presents at least four perspectives on Jung’s philosophy of typology, including an analysis of the popular Myers-Brigg Type Indicator. He shows where typology fits into Jung’s broader analytical work and illustrates how typology, while just a branch of the psychology of Jung, can lead to a deeper understanding of Jung’s entire model of the human personality.

Joan Chamberlain Engelsman

The Stone Speaks
The Memoir of a Personal Transformation

The Stone Speaks is Maud Oakes’s meditation on the personal and transpersonal meaning of Jung’s Stone, a block of stone that he designed and carved with signs, symbols, and inscriptions that drew on Greco-Roman religious ideas and the symbolism of astrology and alchemy. Her extensive correspondence with Jung regarding her interpretations are a valuable document of individuation and health as the product of inner change, achieved by synthesis and integration.

Barbara Hannah

The Animus
The Spirit of Inner Truth in Women

Volume 2 presents her psychological analysis of the animus, gleaned from handwritten notes, typed manuscripts, previously published articles, her own drafts of her lectures, and notes taken by those present.

Carrin Dunne

Behold Woman
A Jungian Approach to Feminist Theology

Taking a numinous dream as her departure point, the author weaves her way through the mythological and religious amplifications of dream imagery to address issues of woman’s soul and mind. She shows a feminine way of proceeding from the depth of lived experience that must undergird any approach to feminist theology.

Psyche's Knife

Archetypal Explorations of Love and Power

192 Pages

Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-066-4
Paperback $19.95
Hardcover $42.95

Psyche’s Knife examines the myth of Eros and Psyche as a metaphor for the development of soul in the psychology of women, explicating the tropes of love and power as depicted by Psyche’s use of a knife in attempting to learn the identity of her lover. Elizabeth Eowyn Nelson examines the metaphor of the knife from all angles—alchemical, sacrificial, lunar, phallic—and delves into the mythology and imagery of women and knives, connecting our deep past to our present lives and our possibilities for the future with archetypal explorations of love and power.

To Speak or Be Silent

The Paradox of Disobedience in the Lives of Women

288 Pages

Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-007-7
Paperback $27.95
Hardcover $42.95

This is an exploration of the history of the woman’s dilemma in history and literature. Lena Ross has collected articles on disobedient women from Eve and Bedouin women to Jane Eyre, Dona Luz, and Virginia Woolf—how they have challenged male dominance and the structures of patriarchal oppression.

Sylvia Shaindel Senensky

Healing and Empowering the Feminine

A Labyrinth Journey

208 Pages

Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-052-7
Paperback $19.95
Hardcover $40

Jungian analyst Sylvia Senensky probes the inner depths of the labyrinth as a source of Archetypal Feminine energy: the womb, the cave, the domain of the Goddess, the core of the earth, the encounter with planned chaos, and the consequences of ignored shadow.

Barbara Stevens Sullivan

Psychotherapy Grounded in the Feminine Principle

220 Pages

Paperback $27.95
Hardcover $42.95

This groundbreaking book offers a proposal for approaching therapeutic work from a perspective that emphasizes the feminine principle of holding and containment, while also recognizing a necessary place for the masculine. Sullivan demonstrates the real possibility of an integrated practice with the potential to heal both men and women.

Betty De Shong Meador

Uncursing the Dark

Treasures from the Underworld

184 Pages

Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-007-7
Paperback $19.95
Hardcover $29.95

Rendered in breathtaking poetry, Betty De Shong Meador begins her exploration with the myth of Inanna’s descent to the underworld. She presents this dark, psychological journey of feminine enlightenment as a positive and necessary gift of one’s full individuality and creative nature.
Faith, Forensics, and Firearms
A Spiritual Psychoanalysis of Three Forensic Trauma Cases

When one seeks civil redress for trauma, even a favorable outcome will not likely heal the heart of a plaintiff who has been raped, beaten, humiliated, violated, or treated unjustly. Forensic psychology analyzes human behavior as it applies to the law. The forensic psychologist establishes the merits of a case, then writes a report. Faith, Forensics, and Firearms presents three such cases, providing the author's forensic analyses and exploring the professional, spiritual, and sociopolitical issues involved from the viewpoints of depth psychology and Christian spirituality.

› A student’s contested application to own a firearm

› The assault of an African American mother by plainclothes police after they refuse to cease harassing her children
The Chiron Group acquired many of the titles previously published by Koa Books. Koa Books was founded by Arnie Kotler, whose considerable experience as a publisher started with his founding of Parallax Press, the publisher of Tich Nhat Hahn and Buddhist teachers. After moving to Hawaii, Arnie began publishing books under the new imprint of Koa Books. In addition to Inner Gold: Understanding Psychological Projection by the beloved and renowned Jungian Analyst, Robert Johnson, Koa Books published books by many authors with a peace and social justice mission. The Chiron Group entered into discussions with Koa Books in the second half of 2015 and begins publishing titles under the Koa imprint in 2016. In addition to keeping Koa’s classic titles in print, Koa will continue publishing books that seek to change the world. With authors like Jerry Mander, Lama Surya Das, Margaret Toth, Cindy Sheehan, Margaret Kingston, and Sulak Sivaraksa, new authors will be joining an esteemed group who are making a difference in this world.

Robert A. Johnson

Inner Gold
Understanding Psychological Projection

88 Pages | Paperback ISBN: 978-0-9821656-6-9
Paperback $11.99

Robert A. Johnson, bestselling author of He, She, We, and other psychology classics, shares a lifetime of insights and experiences in this easy-to-read book on psychological projection—seeing traits in others that are, in fact, our own. Drawing on early Christianity, medieval alchemy, depth psychology, and the myths of The Flying Dutchman and The Once and Future King, he also explores the subjects of loneliness, fundamentalist religion, and the spiritual dimensions of psychology.

Sulak Sivaraksa

Wisdom of Sustainability
Buddhist Economics for the 21st Century

Paperback $11.99

The Wisdom of Sustainability: Buddhist Economics for the 21st Century continues E. F. Schumacher’s groundbreaking work on Buddhist economics in Small Is Beautiful: Economics as if People Mattered. Emphasizing small-scale, indigenous, sustainable alternatives to globalization, Sulak offers hope and alternatives for restructuring our economies based on Buddhist principles and personal development.
Margaret Trost

On That Day, Everybody Ate
One Woman’s Story of Hope and Possibility in Haiti

Following her husband’s untimely death, Margaret Trost visited Haiti to heal her broken heart through service. Struggling to make sense of the extreme poverty and touched by the warmth and resilience of those she met, she partnered with a local community and together they developed a program that now serves thousands of meals a week to those in need. On That Day, Everybody Ate is an autobiography of her remarkable journey.

The Superferry Chronicles
Hawaii’s Uprising Against Militarism, Commercialism, and the Desecration of the Earth

Fifteen hundred protestors line Kaua’i’s pier. Dozens more leap onto surfboards, boogie boards, and canoes, risking their lives to stop the oncoming colossus: the high-speed Hawaii Superferry riding in on a wave of deception and collusion. The protesters block the ship, and force it back to Honolulu. But why such outrage?... Over a ferryboat? The Superferry Chronicles is a riveting tale of intrigue and corruption—and an inspiring popular uprising against rampant commercialization. Impeccably researched, The Chronicles exposes hidden connections to defense industries preparing for Pacific conflicts, and an ambitious governor pandering to powerful military investors. Her administration gives the mammoth catamaran—bigger than a football field—a free pass to blaze its way at 40 miles per hour through protected whale breeding grounds and transport dangerous invasive species to fragile ecosystems—despite stringent environmental laws and a unanimous Supreme Court stop-order. Central to the story, we hear directly from Hawaii’s citizens fighting to protect their lands, and saying loud and clear, “Enough is enough.”
Maxine Hong Kingston

Veterans of War, Veterans of Peace

Veterans of War, Veterans of Peace is a harvest of creative, redemptive storytelling—nonfiction, fiction, and poetry—spanning five wars and written by those most profoundly affected by it. This poignant collection, compiled from Kingston's healing workshops, contains the distilled wisdom of survivors of five wars, including combatants, war widows, spouses, children, conscientious objectors, and veterans of domestic abuse. Veterans of War, Veterans of Peace includes accounts from people that grew up in military families, served as medics in the thick of war, or came home to homelessness. All struggle with trauma—PTSD, substance abuse, and other consequences of war and violence. Through their extraordinary writings, readers witness worlds coming apart and being put back together again through liberating insight, community, and the deep transformation that is possible only by coming to grips with the past.

Lama Surya Das

Words of Wisdom

Lama Surya Das, renowned spiritual guide and author of the bestselling Awakening the Buddha Within, expresses his depth of understanding and highly nuanced humor in this collection of witty and inspired sayings. A rich tapestry of insight gems and belly laughs, Words of Wisdom will leave you laughing,搜索ing your soul, and asking for more. Each page contains a statement that focuses the reader’s attention on an essential concept. An ideal gift book & wisdom treasure for seekers of all faiths.

Cindy Sheehan

Not One More Mother’s Child

Cindy Sheehan lost her son, Spc. Casey Austin Sheehan, in an ambush in Sadr City, Baghdad, in early 2004. As information became available revealing that the war in Iraq was based on lies, she began speaking out against it and demanding the troops come home. In August 2005, she went to Texas, to ask President Bush to explain “the noble cause” for the war he cites in his speeches, and her efforts attracted thousands to create Camp Casey, and drew worldwide attention. This anti-war movement book is a clear, well-written statement of her case against the war and her plea for ending this senseless adventure. Equal parts compelling memoir and call to action, Not One More Mother’s Child tells in Sheehan's distinctive voice how historical events and personal tragedy transformed her from grieving mom to ardent activist.
In 2015, the Chiron Group celebrated the birth of a new publishing imprint, innerQuest.

After decades of receiving well-written manuscripts that seemed better suited to a different publishing label, the decision was made to begin publishing books in the areas of poetry, nonfiction books mental health, personal growth, spirituality, memoir, and fiction under the innerQuest imprint. innerQuest seeks authors with a unique voice or message. innerQuest books relate to inner exploration, self-development, and are meant to accompany the seeker.

154 Pages

Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-208-8
Paperback $19.95  |  Hardcover $40

The release of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual Version 5 (DSM-5) marked one of the biggest changes to the field of mental health diagnosis in over 20 years. DSM-5 Insanely Simplified provides a summary of key concepts of the new diagnostic schema including a section on ICD-10. DSM-5 Insanely Simplified utilizes a variety of devices to help clinicians memorize complex criteria and ideas about the different diagnoses. Cartoons, mnemonic devices, and summary tables allow clinicians and students to quickly grasp and retain broad concepts and subtle nuances related to psychiatric diagnosis. DSM-5 Insanely Simplified fosters quick mastery of the most important concepts introduced in DSM-5 while offering an entirely new way of looking at mental health along a continuum. This new approach avoids simply labeling clients by placing them along spectrums that range from normal to problematic symptoms. Mental health professionals as well as laymen interested in a deeper understanding of emotional well-being will appreciate the synthesis of deep psychology and modern approaches to diagnosis.

Imaginal Figures In Everyday Life
Stories from The World Between Matter And Mind

178 Pages
Paperback $16.95  |  Hardcover $40

Mary Harrell unflinchingly greets a cast of imaginal figures who inhabit her life, and encourages all of us to welcome their wisdom into our own inner landscapes. These very real beings dwell in a realm between matter (nature) and mind (reason), appearing in dreams, intuitive callings, visions, feelings, and sometimes frightening events. Mary offers her own intimate experiences through which she explores and engages these figures, showing her readers how to host these beings as one would host invited guests. From the work of philosopher Henry Corbin, psychiatrist C. G. Jung, and psychologist James Hillman, we know that the name of the realm in which these figures dwell is the mundus imaginalis, or the imaginal world.

Marijuana Debunked
A Handbook for Parents, Pundits and Politicians Who Want to Know the Case Against Legalization

332 Pages
Paperback $19.95  |  Hardcover $26.95

Four million teenagers in Canada and the United States use marijuana, a million of them daily. Yet both countries are moving toward legalization because so many of us have heard only the pro-marijuana side. This book presents the case against marijuana on an equal footing: The scientific research refuting all the pro-marijuana talking points; Why marijuana is not safe for adolescents or behind the wheel; Why legalization would be an economic burden on society and the promise of tax revenue a mirage; How to spot the misleading language used by pro-legalization partisans; How the news media helped to create an epidemic of teenage use; Why de facto decriminalization is better than legalization; Why marijuana laws that prohibit use are good for the public health.

Ralph Buntyn

The Book of David
DAVID HOROWITZ:
Dean of United Nations Press Corps and Founder:
United Israel World Union

330 Pages
Hardcover ISBN: 978-1-63051-584-3
Paperback: $16.95  |  Hardcover: $28.95

For 10 years, author Ralph Buntyn spent many hours with renowned United Nations correspondent and United Israel founder David Horowitz. They engaged in lengthy discussions about his foundational views drawn from his experience and unique vantage point in the two world bodies. The Book of David is based on his personal notes, extensive archival records and reflections from these conversations. In Horowitz’s autobiography Thirty-three Candles published in 1956, he wrote: “Thirty-three Candles undoubtedly calls for a sequel because much has occurred on the world scene since 1944, most of it confirming its major thesis. I feel I shall have to bow to this demand.” The Book of David is dedicated to fulfilling Horowitz’s request for an historical accounting of the period that followed.
Aryelle Jacobsen

A is for Awkward
A Guide to Surviving Middle School

36 Pages
Paperback $7.95  |  Hardcover $18.95

College freshman Aryelle Jacobsen’s book, A is for Awkward, is a guide for middle schoolers. In the book, Jacobsen alphabetizes the complications of adolescence and how to deal with them. Each page features a concept—like “E is for Encouragement” or “O is for Optimism”—advice related to the topic and original art by local teens. She hopes the book will encourage younger students and help them develop an attitude of optimism and gratitude.

Thank you for your business!
Drs. Murray Stein and Nathan Schwartz-Salant founded Chiron Publications with a view to adding new and significant contributions to the Jungian literature with a particular emphasis on clinical writing. In time the list grew to include many other related materials. Murray began his career in publishing in 1970 with Dr. James Hillman, then owner of Spring Publications located in Zurich, Switzerland. In 1982, the idea for a new publishing company was born at a lunch in Santa Fe, New Mexico. Nathan’s connections in New York combined with both of their connections throughout the Jungian world and proved invaluable as Chiron Publications added authors and expanded its collection of titles—now numbering nearly 200. Chiron Publications went on to publish a wide variety of books by Jungian analysts and others in the field of Depth Psychology, Myth, and Society.

After building a well-respected, publishing company for 30 years, Murray and Nathan decided the time had come to pass Chiron on to the next generation. To their good fortune, as they continue to testify, when they established relations with Drs. Steve Buser and Len Cruz in Asheville, North Carolina. Their growing confidence in Steve and Len led them to reach out to these two practicing psychiatrists with a demonstrated interest in Jung and to hand over the company into their keeping.

Dr. Steve Buser, a graduate of the Clinical Training Program of the C.G. Jung Institute of Chicago, and Dr. Len Cruz, an avid student of Jung since residency years, had pioneered online education in the Jungian arena through the Asheville Jung Center. Steve and Len have practiced together for more than a decade and their combined gifts have been the recipe for Chiron’s renewed growth. Murray and Nathan remain committed to Chiron Publications and continue to serve in an emeritus capacity.

Chiron has published the works of many notable authors including: Marie Louise von Franz, Edward Edinger, Barbara Hannah, Robert Johnson, Murray Stein, Nathan Schwartz-Salant, Verena Kast, Carlos Byington, Aldo Carotenuto, John Boe, Deike & Ean Begg, Rafael Lopez-Pedraza, Sheila Zarrow, Harry Wilmer, Robert Moore, and many more.
